FRANKFORT, KY., JULY 5, 1884.

Number 42.

The Masonic Home Journal, published at Masonic Widows and Orphans' Home, Louisville, in speaking of the parade on St. John's day, June 24th, has this to say:

Frankfort Commandery, No. 4, was in the parade, and added to the beauty of the column, which, for regularity and precision of movement, has probably not been excelled by any body of men, of equal numbers, in the United States. The Infantry battalion was composed of champion Commanderies—DeMolay, Raper, St. Bernard, Louisville, and Frankfort. The first three had won the first prizes (or their equivalent) in national contests, and the last two held the Kentucky State banner for a year.

Frankfort Commandery held the prize banner for two years, having won it at the meeting of the Grand Commandery in Georgetown and at Danville.

E. Power desires to call the attention of the housekeepers to his new stove. It is the famous Charter Oak Stove, manufactured by the Excelsior Manufacturing Company of St. Louis. It is an extra heavy stove, having all the modern improvements that any other stove has, and in addition it has Wire Gauge Oven Doors. This is an improvement that is in no other stove in the world, and makes a vast difference in the baking and roasting qualities of the oven. It is so arranged that you can make it a tight oven stove like any other, by merely turning an extra door on its hinges or turning a register.

It is an established fact that a highly heated current of air may be driven against fine gauze wire without transmitting its temperature from one side to the other, and that while the air will pass through the heat will remain behind.

The baking temperature in ovens is obtained by the radiation of heat from the flues which surround them. It is necessary that this heat should be retained in the oven, but it is also necessary that the vapor of water and other volatile gases liberated in the process of baking should escape. This secured, we approximate the perfection of cooking attained in spit roasts before an open fire. All this is accomplished in the Wire Gauge Ovens.

THE PRACTICAL RESULTS OF GAUZE OVEN DOORS.

Bread baked in close ovens has never attained the perfection which characterizes bread baked in old fashioned brick ovens, and never can. Superiority of the brick oven over the tight iron oven was not due to any difference in the character of the heat within it, but to the fact that it was large, and afforded ready means of escape for steam and volatile products thrown off in the chemical changes incident to cooking.

With the Gauge Oven Doors we secure all the advantages of the brick oven, without sacrificing any of the conveniences of the modern cook stove.

By this improvement a given weight of flour will give 25 per cent. more bread and of a better quality than can be produced in any close oven in use. Meats roasted in their own juices in ovens having Gauge Oven Doors, result in more tender and more agreeable meats for the table than can be obtained by any other means. No basting required. There is not a cooking apparatus made using a solid oven door but that the loss in weight is from 25 to 40 per cent. of meat roasted in other words, a rib of beef weighing 10 pounds, if roasted medium to well done, will lose 3 pounds. The same roasted in a Charter Oak Stove and Range with Gauge Oven Doors will lose less than 1 pound. But few have an idea of the enormous shrinkage of meats roasted in close ovens—fully 30 per cent. To allow meat to shrink is to lose a large portion of its juiciness and flavor. The fibers do not separate, and it becomes tough.

The wire gauge oven door saves the weight and shrinkage, allowing the meat to roast in its own juices, retains its natural flavor, and separates the fibers, makes it more nutritious and easier digested, and saves time and fuel.

The Charter Oak stoves and ranges are so constructed that the fire passes directly under the centre of all the boiler holes. They have large ovens, heavy covers, reversible cross pieces and wire gauge oven doors, and are constructed to burn either hard coal, soft coal, or wood. Mr. Power has a sample of this stove at his store, and he will be glad to show it to any one interested in a stove. It is as cheap as any other first-class stove, and will be sold, guaranteed to give entire satisfaction.

Bridgeport.

Mrs. Ann Mayhall is quite ill. Mrs. Dr. Chinn is slowly recovering. The stock market is rather dull. The prospect for an abundant cabbage yield is splendid.

Mrs. Julia Bailey has been quite sick again this week.

Wheat harvest is about over. The yield will be very good.

We understand a foot race will take place in this vicinity soon.

Last Tuesday, July 1st, was the commencement of a new school year. Boys—June 27th, 1884, to Jas. P. Sargent, Jr., and wife, a daughter.

Splendid rains this week, raising vegetation to assume altogether a brighter aspect.

Master Willie Chambers returned home last Tuesday from a visit of several months to relatives in Owensboro.

Several citizens of this place expect to visit Old Point, Washington City, and other places of interest on the Atlantic coast this summer.

Rev. B. F. Hungerford, pastor of New South Benson Church, will preach at Frankfort Church to-day at 2 o'clock p. m. and to-morrow at 10 o'clock a. m.

A trip from Bridgeport to Benson last Tuesday convinces us more thoroughly of the fact that a pipe connecting these two places is indispensable to their best interests.

We propose the following as part of the programme for discussion in the Teachers' Association to be held in Frankfort to-day.

Resolved: That the present method of examination of teachers is a farce.

Tick Ridges.

RED EYE RESURRECTED.

Lost the readers of your sprightly organ should consider me totally annihilated by the well-timed pedagogy of Bridgeport for my excuse for my appearance at this time. I have been laboring under a fit of anti-cathartic catarrh, and had a perfect disgust for pen, ink and paper, and I was unable to see how many pumpkin-headed chaps like Mink Eye would rejoice at my demerit by the great Bridgeport Laundry. Alas! my dear friends, I use no "Twenty-four years a pedagogue" as he says; I reckon the people round about Bridgeport supposed themselves aided by a regular system of wisdom when they heard that. Strange that one so knowing and accomplished (according to his own account) has not long ago been called to take his choice of lawlessness in Harvard or Vanderbilt! This learned prologist, this whole sale devorers of "ripe spring chickens" (tossed that heron make way with more of them than a Methodist circuit rider), is beyond question the 17th wonder of the world and should be honored accordingly. He should have a monument of brass or pewter, garlanded all over with spring masters and pullets, and labeled with a teacher's certificate of "24 years experience," also in shining letters of brass or pewter, "Honor to whom honor." Room for the gallant pedagogue of Bridgeport, who more than a quarter of a century ago, crossed the terrible Pont asinorum under the whip and spur of an old field school master, bred and vigorously applied to his youthful but blistered posteriors.

Alas! I cannot close this epistle without a passing notice to the shade who does up so nicely the things and accosts by the hook with, "How you sell chickens?" "Has your got any but an ass?" "Will you take it in trade?" &c., and so very much that they keep their booths upon of a Sabbath morning and play base ball in the afternoons and we did hear that the scribe foresaid unprisms the game. Lovely place, morally; businesslike, beautiful.

I will pass Mink Eye at present. His remarks are too insignificant to notice. I will leave him to the tender mercies of the Benson magistrate—at the same time admiring the inconsistency of said Squire, who votes for the Bridgeport and Benson pike and against the much needed Water-tank pipe in Benson.

The weather is hot. News is scarce. Bank Updike are well, and spring chickens are ripe.

RED EYE.

To J. D. M., of the "Happy Land of Cinnamon."

THE ROUNDABOUT of June 14, 1884, contains a communication defending the county court for its acts, in a manner unheard of. Years ago, an appropriation was made to build a turnpike from Bridgeport to Farmdale. A toll-gate was not placed upon it for the reason that the travel would not sustain the gate keeper. It was said it would be a valuable road before its erection. But it has followed the wake of others, and earned out a failure. When that road is completed to Benson it will fare as the one has from Bridgeport to Farmdale.

J. D. M. says he wants to connect Benson and Bald Knob with Bridgeport; for what? Was a turnpike ever erected to favor neighborhood travel? Or was the appropriation made to permit the good people who live in the county to get to the county seat, over a good turnpike? Isn't this the only reason a turnpike is aided by the county? If any other, is it just? No! I would like to see J. D. M.'s attempt to the appropriation made to the turnpike extended to the mouth of Elk-horn. That road paid dividend. Private subscriptions were made to the turnpike; the court was asked for an appropriation to extend it one mile. It was done by the court of claims, who assumed to locate a bridge that the pike was to cross. To erect the pike it cost nearly twice as much as it should have done because it had to pass a hill-side all the way, and the slides have covered the pike all winter. Now the company has no money to finish it and it is stated that not a dollar of private subscription has been paid. In other words these private subscriptions to turnpikes are a myth.

Benson precinct has not exceeding 200 voters, Bridgeport not exceeding 250 voters. Most of the travel from Benson is on the railroad, and when a turnpike is built it will never sustain itself except by some one who will keep it up privately with the county aid. How many pikes in the county pay a dividend? Mr. J. D. M. He would have you believe all were paying roads. No road that has been built within the last ten years ever paid the county one cent either in an increase of valuation on property or in the way of dividend. Now, sir, you may lurk anywhere as "Mink Eye" and invoke non bene putes and threaten with Papa's sections, as stated by the Roundabout, but can you tell us facts and not fancies? Don't you know a mile of road received a subscription of stock from the county at the Bald Knob end that is out in the cold and will be warm only before it is connected with the main line? If that astute member of court has knowledge on court affairs let us have a little.

1. How much turnpike stock has Franklin county?
2. How much of it pays a dividend?
3. If so much is the floating debt? How much money over and above the power to levy a tax for 1884 has he voted for to give to turnpikes?
4. Can he say any one will ever pay a gate keeper?

These five questions properly answered will enlighten this community, and to get it will give J. D. M. knowledge. SCOURIER.

PIANOS AND ORGANS! --- EASY TERMS!

In buying a Piano or Organ many persons have the idea that they must pay all cash. There are thousands of families who have an income of fifty to one hundred dollars per month, who can easily spare from five to ten dollars of it and scarcely miss it. To all such we would say, do not wait to lay up enough to pay for an instrument before buying, but see or write as at once for our terms. We will satisfy you that we are giving easier terms than any Music House in the United States.

Polise vs. Flat Creek Clippers. The F. C. C.'s were defeated by a score of 2 to 1. We feel for them but we can't reach them.

Mr. Austin and Mr. Davis Harrel, from Flag Fork, spent Sunday with us. Come down again, boys.

Miss Sue LaCompte, of this place, who has been visiting friends at Frankfort, returned home Sunday morning. Our mail has been carried from this place to Harper's Ferry by subscription until now, but the U. S. Government will carry it from there on. Mr. Joseph Layton is contractor and carrier. He made his first trip with the mail Tuesday morning. Mr. John Blankenship, the former mail carrier, brought the packages in for the last time Saturday. We feel sorry for John. He will have to go out in the sun and hoe tobacco. Won't that be lightning? I should murmur.

Switzer.

Miss Katie Owens, of Louisville, is visiting friends in this neighborhood.

A large crop of tobacco has been set in this community, and most of it is looking splendid.

We had a splendid rain last Monday, which seemed to give new life to all growing vegetation.

The farmers are now very busy gathering the yellow sheafs of wheat, and they report a very large yield.

Miss Bette Bradley, who has been visiting friends in Frankfort for some time past, returned home last week.

B. L. McCoy left for Louisville Monday, June 28th, where he will remain for some time engaged in tying strings on C. B. Hopkins' patent money box.

Miss Opie Thompson's school closed on the 27th. Miss Lizzie Brown's school will close in a short time. Miss Mary Merna will teach the public school at Penk's Mill this fall.

Little Pryor Lockensmith, son of J. B. Lockensmith, has been engaged in tying strings on C. B. Hopkins' patent money box.

We don't like to go out of our territory or intrude upon the rights of other correspondents, but we beg to mention a game of base ball that took place at Stamping Ground between the Stamping Ground Club and the Switzer Red Stockings. When the game closed the score stood Switzer 28, Stamping Ground 1. A very good walk over for the first match game of the season.

The cholera is spreading in France, but it is thought it will not cross the Atlantic this year, though we may look out for it next year.

The river and harbor bill passed the Senate Tuesday, and Kentucky river will get $250,000—enough to repair Lock No. 5 and build Lock No. 6. Good enough.

Mrs. S. E. Dunlap attempted to drive his horse past a moving train on Broadway, Monday morning, when the animal turned short around, threw him out of the buggy, overturned and smashed it up.

A large crowd attended the game of base ball at Lake Park yesterday afternoon, between the Emmetts, of Louisville, and the White Halls. The game was interesting throughout and resulted in a score of 17 to 6 in favor of the visitors. They play again today.

Mr. Louis Weltzel has just fitted up in elegant style the room next to the confectionery, of Messrs. C. & J. Weltzel, in his new block, and will reopen the Old Kentucky Saloon there in a few days. He will keep none but the finest liquors and will keep a first class house.

Miss Augusta Danber, step-daughter of Mr. Otto Von Borries, formerly of this city but now of Louisville, and Mr. C. F. Proehl, of that city, were married at the residence of Mr. E. L. Meagher, on Main street, at noon Monday, by Rev. E. A. Penick. They left the same afternoon for their future home in Louisville.

The ladies of the Hart Memorial Association of Lexington are getting up an excursion from Lexington to Old Point Comfort for the benefit of the Association. The train will leave Lexington on the 21st of July and the tickets will be good returning until the 5th of August. The fare for the round trip will be $11.00.

At the election of officers of Capital Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., Monday evening, the following were chosen for the ensuing six months. Wm. Howe Williams, Noble Grand; Fred B. Staines, Vice Grand; W. S. Deloney, Secretary; Nat. F. Richardson, Treasurer; Ben. Freestone, Illust. This makes the thirtieth election in succession for Mr. W. S. Deloney.

Robert Coleman, a former well-known colored citizen of this city, son of the late Uncle Wm. Coleman, who has been living in Colorado for the past five years, was in the city the third of the week. He came to claim as his little Miss L. H. Newman, who has been teaching in the Colored Public School in this city for several years. They were married Thursday at the residence of the bride's Uncle in Des Moines, Iowa.

It is expected that Hon. Jas. G. Blaine candidate for President, will visit Gen. Eklin in Louisville in a few days.

By reference to the analysis of the beer manufactured by the Capital Brewing Co. it will be seen that it is the best made anywhere.

Capt. S. V. Pence has sold the Steamer Fannie Freese to the Kentucky River Navigation Company, owners of the Hornet, who will have her overhauled and repaired and continue her in this trade. She will be transferred this morning.

The City is to receive $20,000 cash for the old water works, and as she has $23,000 of school bonds falling due in a short time this amount could be used very advantageously in liquidating that indebtedness and save $1,300 interest on that amount.

The Fourth was a rather quiet day in the city. The colored people celebrated the day with a street parade in the morning, a picnic at Lake Park, and a cantata at the Court House in the evening. Many went to Louisville for the day, the Presbyterian Sunday-school went on an excursion down the river on the Freese, and the game of base ball in the afternoon caught all those who were sufficiently energetic to walk down to Lake Park.

The Weltzel block on St. Clair street is rapidly approaching completion and is being occupied as fast as the rooms are gotten in readiness. Messrs. C. & J. Weltzel have reopened their ice cream saloon in the upper story of the first building, while the second will be occupied next week by the Old Kentucky Saloon on the first floor. Col. Sublett has already moved the office of the U. S. Engineers into two of the upper rooms, the other rooms will shortly be occupied as sleeping apartments and offices. In the third story is a large room extending over both buildings, which is intended for hops and suppers. The other two buildings of the block will be occupied by Messrs. Weltzel & O'Donnell as a fancy store and the new Public Printers as a newspaper office. The entire block will have a pavement of stone flagging in front and will present an exceedingly handsome appearance.

Report of the Chemical Analysis

Of Beer sent by the Capital Brewing Co., Frankfort, on May 24th, and received May 26th, 1884:

| COMPOSITION. | |
| specific gravity = 1.02. | |
| Absolute alcohol, by volume | 5.58 |
| Do by weight | 5.35 |
| Total Acid, (Acetic, &c.) | .01 |
| Total Solid Matters | 6.12 |
| The solid matters contain dried at 212° F.: | |
| Gummy and Nitrogenous matters | 4.75 |
| Malt sugar | 1.05 |
| Ash, or mineral matters | .32 |
| | 6.12. |

Calculated to a gallon there is a little over 7 fluid ounces of Absolute alcohol; 641 grains of malt sugar; about 23 grains of Acetic and other acids; about 184 grains of Ash, and 2,743 grains of gummy and Nitrogenous solid matters dried at 212° F.

The proper test showed the absence of any injurious metallic substance in the beer, as well as of Sulphate of Lime, which would have been present if glucose had been used in its manufacture.

It is evident, therefore, that this is good sound Beer, made of Malt and Hops of good quality.
